GETTING TO BELIZE

The Conference will be held in beautiful Belize City, Belize in Central America. Apart from being an ideal conference location, there are opportunities for exploration, entertainment, culinary adventures and shopping. In addition to enjoying activities in Belize, you can visit Mexico and Guatemala.

There are daily international flights to the Philip S.W. Goldson International Airport in Belize on major airlines including: Air Canada, American Airlines, Avianca, Copa, Delta, Southwest, United and WestJet. For most of the Caribbean, flights are routed through Miami and Panama City.

Note, however, that flights are limited and prices tend to increase over time. Delegates are therefore encouraged to book their flights early.

Visas are not required for Caribbean nationals, however there is a requirement for persons living in Guyana, Suriname and Trinidad and Tobago to show yellow fever vaccination certificates.

Visit www.travelbelize.org for more information about making the most of your conference experience.

DISCOUNTED TRAVEL ON AMERICAN AIRLINES

The CAJO is working with the Groups Desk at American Airlines to facilitate travel to Belize for the Conference.

American Airlines can offer a discounted fare for a group of ten (10) or more persons, however all persons must be traveling from the same destination, on the same date and on the same flight.

To make your bookings, you can book directly with American Airlines by telephone, (868) 821-6000 or via e-mail to caribbean.groups@aa.com. Once AA gives you an offer with the discounted fare, you will have 14 days from the time of receipt to confirm the itinerary.

WIN FREE AIRFARE AND REGISTRATION TO CAJO IN BELIZE

CAJO is offering free airfare and registration to the 6th Biennial Conference in Belize. If the winner happens to be from Belize, the prize will be deferred to the next biennial conference. To qualify for the raffle, you must complete the UNODC Global Judicial Integrity Network's eLearning course on Judicial Conduct and Ethics.

It is easy to enter. After registering and completing the eLearning course, the UNODC offers a certificate. This certificate must be emailed by Thursday, 25 July 2019 to dgibbs@ccj.org to enter. The winner will be notified by email on Wednesday, 31 July 2019.

Complete the eLearning course today to win.
